§ 163.04 RETALIATORY CONDUCT PROHIBITED.

(A) It shall be unlawful for a landlord to retaliate by increasing rent or decreasing services or by bringing or threatening to bring an action for possession after the tenant has made a good faith complaint to a Code Enforcement Officer or other governmental agency of a violation of this chapter applicable to the rented premises. In order to qualify as a good faith complaint pursuant to this section, said complaint shall be communicated by the tenant to the landlord in writing prior to filing said complaint with a Code Enforcement Officer or other governmental agency, and said complaint results in a Notice of Violation.

(B) If a landlord is in violation of division (A) of this section, the tenant may recover possession or terminate the rental agreement and, in either case, recover an amount not less than $150 and not more than $900. If the rental agreement is terminated, the landlord shall return all prepaid rent. In an action by or against the tenant, evidence of a good faith complaint within six months before the alleged act of retaliation creates a presumption that the landlord's conduct was in retaliation. The presumption of retaliation shall continue for a period of six months after the landlord completes any required repairs pursuant to the Basic Property Maintenance Code and as certified by a code enforcement officer. The presumption does not arise if the tenant made the complaint after notice of a proposed rent increase or diminution of services. "Presumption" means that the trier of fact must find the existence of the fact presumed unless and until evidence is introduced which would support a finding of its nonexistence. The prevailing party in any action filed pursuant to this section shall be entitled to recovery of reasonable attorney fees not to exceed $500.

(C) Notwithstanding divisions (A) and (B) of this section, a landlord may bring an action for possession if:

(1) The violation of the applicable Basic Property Maintenance Code was caused primarily by lack of reasonable care by the tenant or other person in his household or upon the premises with his consent; or

(2) The lease has expired on its terms; or

(3) The tenant is in default in rent; or

(4) Compliance with the Basic Property Maintenance Code or any other applicable building or housing code requires alteration, remodeling, or demolition which would effectively deprive the tenant of use of the dwelling unit.

(D) The maintenance of an action under division (C) of this section does not release the landlord from liability under division (B) of this section.

(Ord. 02-2016, passed 2-16-2016)

§ 163.99 PENALTY; ENFORCEMENT.

(A) The provisions of this chapter may be enforced by the Code of Ordinance Enforcement Board established in §§ 33.180 through 33.196, or in the alternative, the Christian County District Court, as a misdemeanor and/or violation. The decision on whether enforcement shall take place with the Code Enforcement Board or the Christian County District Court shall be at the city's discretion.

(B) Any person who violates any provision of this chapter shall be guilty of a violation and shall be subject to a fine. A first offense under this chapter shall result in a fine of not greater than $500. A second offense shall result in a fine of not greater than $750. All other offenses shall result in a fine of not greater than $1,000. Each day that a violation continues shall constitute a separate offense.

(Ord. 25-2006, passed 7-11-2006; Ord. 22-2017, passed 12-19-2017)

In Group R occupancies and in dwellings not regulated as Group R occupancies, single-station smoke alarms shall receive their primary power from the building wiring provided that such wiring is served from a commercial source and shall be equipped with a battery backup. Smoke alarms shall emit a signal when the batteries are low. Wiring shall be permanent and without a disconnecting switch other than as required for overcurrent protection. Exception: Smoke alarms are permitted to be solely battery operated in buildings where no construction is taking place, buildings that are not served from a commercial power source and in existing areas of buildings undergoing alterations or repairs that do not result in the removal of interior wall or ceiling finishes exposing the structure, unless there is an attic, crawl space or basement available which could provide access for building wiring without the removal of interior finishes.

704.4 Interconnection. Where more than one smoke alarm is required to be installed within an individual dwelling unit in Group R-2, R-3, R-4 and in dwellings not regulated as Group R occupancies, the smoke alarms shall be interconnected in such a manner that the activation of one alarm will activate all of the alarms in the individual unit. The alarm shall be clearly audible in all bedrooms over background noise levels with all intervening doors closed. Exceptions: (1) Interconnection is not required in buildings which are not undergoing alterations, repairs or construction of any kind. (2) Smoke alarms in existing areas are not required to be interconnected where alterations or repairs do not result in the removal of interior wall or ceiling finishes exposing the structure, unless there is an attic, crawl space or basement available which could provide access for interconnection without the removal of interior finishes.
